Chips

The other day walked into our office none other than Tom Rollo, our brother. Tom, we could perceive at once, was rather oiled, which is a euphemism for "plastered"; and after talking our last Camel, put his feet on the desk, and, inhaling deeply, spake winged words in this wise:

"You are eternally griping about not having copy to fill that scandalous column of yours, and since football is over, you must be out of luck. Now I am going to give you some copy.

"The trouble with you," he went on, "is that you are too optimistic. What the public expects from a columnist is griping, and lots of it. Now I have some pet gripes that should be aired. First, we have a pretty decent University down here, but we lack one essential campus fixture: a real college widow.

"What I suggest is that each of the fraternities nominate some bimbo for the official position of College Widow. Then we could vote and the lucky girl would be given a cup by Prexy Marvin in front of the cheering throngs. Think of the possibilities of it! For example, Sigma Nu could nominate—but let's not go into that.

"Another pain in the neck is the fact that the Big Men of the Campus don't rate so much, after all. Look at me: I have about six activities, am fairly good-looking, have a bunch of honorary keys, drive a car, but Lizzie Perkins, the prominent co-ed, won't even look at me. I have a hunch that she's in Quigley's now drinking a coke with Billy Hookus, whose only claim to fame is that he once went to Dartmouth and has six suits of clothes." Tears stood in his eyes.

"But I shall conquer in the end," said Tom, swallowing the contents of the inkwell. "Still another cheesy situation is that intellectual capacity is entirely lacking here. I sent my poem, 'Hector, or the Manic-Depressive Psychosis of a Pre-Raphaelite,' to the Colonial Wig, and they informed me that they were going to postpone publication for another month, and weren't interested in geology anyway. And then Joe Walstrom sent it back too, with the following note: 'Consult H. M. Baggett for advertising rates.'

"Now those are the things that make a fellow really sore. . . I had had some hopes for this University until I read in the columns of The Hatchet that we were going to have another Junior Prom. The last one was an admirable Delt function. The next one will probably be as stiff, stuffy, and hot as all the rest, and my collar will probably come loose from my neckband or my necktie creep up to my ears.

"In short, I am in a prime mood to write a first class Russian novel, which will be set to music by Elmer Brown and produced at the Wardman Park Theatre under the title, 'My First Two Years at C. C. N. Y., or How I Learned to Play a Clarinet.'"

"And they still have classes in this University! And expect you to go to them. But thinking of that is entirely too much for my weak heart.

"Another thing is the parking situation at G. W. The motorman for the Captital Traction Company expects you to move your tin can off his ruddy tracks, and you can't park on the sidewalk in front of the gym. The only solution is to get a velocipede.

"Then there are a bunch of other things. No school of journalism, and only an elementary course. Jump on me, if you wish, for being the 34,875th person to discover this. A bang-up school of journalism would give this place the publicity it needs.

"Still another gripe. There is Charlie Goofus, who, knowing perfectly well that you have a cigarette lighter, is continually asking for a match. And Susie Smilch, who always says, 'You would,' and is quite proud of this sally of wit.

"Worst of all, however," said Tom, "is the task of making out the purport of covers of The Ghost. I have heard guesses that the figures portrayed on the Silly Number were Antony and Cleopatra, Adam and Eve, Abelard and Heloise. My own conjecture is Earl Carroll and Joyce Hawley."

We put on our hat. The sun was sinking over the gashouse. In fact, you could hardly tell which was which. "Where are you going?" burbled our squiffed relative. "Down the street," was the cheery reply. "Be original," said the youthful paragon. "Anyone can go DOWN the street. Try going UP the street for a change." He looked at us balefully.

We thereupon deposited Thomas in the waste basket, and went off to get Lizzie Perkins, and take her to Le Paradis, our own self.

MOTHERS' DAY IS UNDER AUSPICES OF DEAN A. ROSE

"What Every Mother Should Know About College" Subject of Talk

PRESIDENT MARVIN TALKS ON WOMEN'S PROBLEMS

Exhibition Game and Gymnastics, Sight-seeing, Luncheon and Talks By Student Leaders Feature

By EILLEEN GARDNER AND NANA SULLIVAN

Mothers' Day was held at the University, Friday, December 2, and invitations were sent to the mothers of all the Freshmen students to come at 9 o'clock in the morning and remain throughout the day. Speeches and exhibitions that should acquaint them with the work going on in the University made up a full day for the visitors.

Despite a heavy downpour of rain, over fifty mothers arrived at Corcoran Hall between nine and ten o'clock and were welcomed by Miss Anna L. Rose, Dean of Women, and Miss Evelyn Jones. Helen Dix received the registration.

President Marvin Speaks

Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, President of the University, opened the program for the day with greetings to the mothers.

President Marvin expressed his opinion that there is a project to carry on in education. There is a great increase in education shown by the increase each year in the number of students attending college. University life is just beginning, and there is need for coordination of the social and intellectual life in the home and in the school.

"The great problem," said President Marvin, "is in taking care of the women in college. This is the function of the Dean of Women, whose duty is that of a chaperon." He went on to say that there is no need to feel that the youth of today is degrading. It is honest. Mistakes are sometimes made; yet withal there is a more wholesome attitude in the youth of today than there was twenty years ago. "Youth will always be youth," said President Marvin, "and we must wrestle with the problems in an honest way."

In his discussion of the duties of the Dean of Women, President Marvin said, "The Dean of Women must be one who can interpret life, and one who has understanding. She must build an environment of natural and

CLASS OF 1931 TO HAVE PICTURE IN YEAR BOOK

Annual Freshman-Soph Tug-of-War To Be Held Next Spring

The Freshman class is the first class to decide to have a group picture in the Cherry Tree, with separate pictures of the officers besides, at its first meeting, Monday. After the class had been called to order by its recently elected president, Ted Chapin, the editor of the 1928 Cherry Tree, Margaret Maize, was introduced to the class members to present the matter of a class picture to them. It was unanimously agreed that they wished to be the first Freshman class to have its picture in the book. It will be taken by the photographers early in January on the campus.

Because there were only about forty of the two hundred and fifty members present the motion to the effect that class dues be instituted was set aside for action at the next meeting, which will be held Monday, December 19, in Room 29, in Corcoran Hall.

Plans For Tug-of-War

The group decided that the annual Tug-o'-War which has been held every year until this year by the Sophomores and Freshmen should take place in the early spring. At the next meeting of the class, a committee will be appointed to meet with the Sophomores and make definite plans for the clash.

The other officers of the Freshman class, who are Carolyn Jackson, Vice-President; Russell Coombs, Secretary; Frank Linton, Treasurer; and Roberta Wright, Sergeant-at-Arms, urge that other members of the class come to the meeting on December 19, for there will be more business before the group, and it is unfair for a small group to decide things of importance to the entire class.

LIFE-SAVING CLASS FOR GIRLS TO BE ORGANIZED

A life-saving class in girls' swimming will be organized at a date to be announced later.

At present practice is held three afternoons a week, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday, from 4 to 4.30 at the new Y. M. C. A. and two evenings a week, Tuesday and Friday, from 7.30 to 8, at the old Y. W. C. A.

IVAN STEHMAN, FULLBACK NAMED COLONIAL CAPTAIN AT ANNUAL GRID BANQUET

Telegrams From Alumni Clubs Received at Dinner Held at Lafayette Hotel; More Than Hundred Alumni and Undergraduates Attend

LEWIS MONEYWAY IS CHAIRMAN IN CHARGE OF BANQUET; MANY TRUSTEES ARE PRESENT

Robert Kline, Jr., Honey Campbell, Herbert Aldridge Entertain Colonial Warriors; Football Team Praised for Highly Successful Season; Clapper Equaled Records for Touchdowns from Kick-off

Ivan Stehman, stellar fullback of the George Washington "Iron" football team, was chosen captain for the 1928 season at a meeting of the squad just a few minutes before the annual Football Banquet last Thursday evening at the Lafayette Hotel. More than one hundred alumni and undergraduates were present to pay homage to the 1927 grid team and the coach, and the dinner served as a fitting climax to the most successful football season George Washington has ever known.

The banquet was given under the auspices of the Alumni Association, and was attended by a distinguished group of prominent University personages, among them were President and Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin, Dr. and Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, Harry Cassel Davis, and William Bruce King, of the Board of Trustees, Dr. Frank A. Hornaday, President of the General Alumni Association, Coach H. Watson Crum, and Lewis Moneyway, chairman of the committee in charge of the banquet.

Telegrams Are Received

A loud speaker was connected up, giving the guests a summary of the 1927 football season, and certain interesting sidelights on the lives of the football men. The latter provoked considerable laughter.

Telegrams from three of the more active alumni clubs, those in New York City, Albany and San Francisco, extending congratulations to the gridiron team, were received. Mr. Moneyway read these aloud.

Dr. Frank A. Hornaday, President of the General Alumni Association, in summing up the achievements of the football squad this year, said in part: "The alumni are glad to provide the social climax to a team which has made a glorious triumph of the season just closed."

"Seven games won out of nine played constitutes a remarkable record. We take great pleasure in adding to the honor already attained by the football team, and we hope that they are having a good time," he said in conclusion.

Robert Kline, Jr., sang several solos, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Elizabeth Gardner Coombs.

Trustees Express Admiration

"I want to express on behalf of the Board of Trustees their admiration for the splendid spirit shown this year by the team, and their appreciation of the splendid results of this season's work. They asked me to tell you that you have done a great work for the University." In these words, William Bruce King, representing the Board of Trustees, voiced the opinion of that body.

At this point, "Col. Lindbergh," impersonated by Harold E. Warner, came in and was asked to say a few words to the team. Miss Rosemary Arnold, as "Ruth Elder," also spoke.

Honey Campbell, of vaudeville fame, entertained with several songs and sketches. Herbert Aldridge, tenor, sang three numbers. He was accompanied by Mrs. Elizabeth Gardner Coombs."

"Team Has Set Standards"—Marvin

In his short address of congratulation to the members of the football team, President Cloyd Heck Marvin said, "You may well be proud this year as a team that has set standards that no other team has ever set." At the close of Dr. Marvin's talk, the entire squad, led by Capt. Allshouse, gave a "Yea, Marvin."

Dr. Daniel Le Ray Borden, chairman of the Athletic Council, praised the value of the "one-year rule," and stated that George Washington has reason to feel "justly proud of the freshman team," as well as the varsity.

KEEP CRUM, SAYS INTERFRAT BODY

Council Passes Resolution Favoring Renewal of Athletic Director's Contract For 3 Years

HIS RECORD IS REVIEWED

Bowling Tournament, Rush Rules Discussed; Definite Program Will Be Presented at Next Meeting

Retention of Coach Harry Watson Crum as Director of Athletics at George Washington University, with a three-year contract and on terms favorable to him, was strongly urged at a meeting of the Inter-Fraternity Council at the Sigma Phi Epsilon House, 1810 Connecticut Avenue, last Sunday.

Coach Crum's record at George Washington was outlined and the Council expressed great satisfaction with his work. A resolution to this effect, drawn up by William Alewine, Kappa Sigma delegate, was adopted, and a committee was appointed to urge renewal of the contract, consisting of Alewine, chairman; Don Iglehart, and Sherman Johnson.

It was announced that plans for the Interfraternity bowling series were under way, and the tournament will probably be played early in January, shortly after the Christmas holidays.

Rush Rules Considered

Rushing rules, which have been a topic of discussion in the Council for some time, were discussed at the meeting, although no definite program was considered. A committee of the Council will present a definite plan at the next meeting, after which individual fraternities will make their recommendations.

Robert S. Williams, in charge of the Vodvil to be given soon, urged that fraternities present acts to be passed upon in tryouts. The last tryouts were Monday night.

He also stated that there were vacancies in the cast of the Troubadour musical comedy and urged men to appear for tryouts.

Don Iglehart, chairman of the social committee, reported on the Thanksgiving tea dance in Corcoran Hall, which was successful from all angles.

The Resolution

The text of the Alewine resolution follows:

Whereas, the Interfraternity Council understands that the contract of Coach Crum terminates this year; and

Whereas, he has rendered valuable service to the University; therefore be it

Resolved, that the Interfraternity Council favors his being retained on a three-year contract on terms favorable to him.

Further resolved, that a committee be appointed to urge student organizations to support such a contract.

COUNCIL PLANS FOR XMAS

The Women's Advisory Council of the University is making plans for its usual charity work in connection with the Christmas season. No definite plans have been announced as yet, but the council intends to help out some needy family, as has been its custom for the past several years. Further notices will appear in The Hatchet.

ANNUAL VODVIL TO MAKE FIFTH BOW ON CAMPUS

Student Production Will Be Put On In The Gymnasium Tomorrow Night At 8:30

CUP TO BE PRESENTED TO GROUP GIVING BEST ACT

A Black-Face Act, Musical Numbers, Funny Skits are Feature of This Year's Show

The George Washington University annual Vodvil will make its fifth bow tomorrow night, December 8, in the Gym, at 8.30 p. m. Tickets are fifty cents and may be obtained at the door; no reserved seats.

Tryouts were held regularly last week at which the acts that are to make up the bill were selected. From preliminary trials a better Vodvil than ever is expected.

Acts Already Chosen

Among the groups which have been chosen to present their acts are: the Troubadours, Chi Omega, Phi Mu, Pi Beta Phi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Gamma Beta Pi, Sigma Kappa, Kappa Delta, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

The K. D's are to appear in a skit entitled, "Evolution, Hevolution, Evolution" which concerns the devil, heaven, and evolution. Phi Mu is to put on a black-faced act, "A Rejuvenated Uncle Tom's Cabin."

"We'd Die for Dear Old Follies," a musical comedy football game, depicting the annual contest between Follies College and Scandals University, will be presented by Chi Omega.

Musical Offerings

S. A. E's contribution will be "Eight Minutes of Jazz." "The Arrow Night Club" will be offered by Pi Beta Phi with all the embellishments that go with the usual night club.

S. P. E. will entertain with a nonsensical act, portraying ten mintues of any hour of the day, called "Skit of Nondescript." Sigma Kappa's act will be a fashion show. A pantomine is to be presented by Gamma Beta Pi.

Cup To Be Awarded

The show which is being given under the direction of the Board of Directors of the Dramatic Association will have as an added feature a trophy cup which is to be awarded to the fraternity, sorority, or organization presenting the best act.

As in previous years, seats for the Vodvil are not reserved, so it is a case of first come, first served.

e. No first-year subject, and no second-year required subject shall be counted toward this degree.

MR. CRUM'S RECORD

How the students of this University feel about Coach Harry Watson Crum is evidenced by the resolution passed by the Interfraternity Council Sunday morning.

Students realize, perhaps better than members of the faculty can, the amazing strides in athletics made under his direction. When he came here, football continually lost money; this past year receipts were equal to the budget appropriation.

That is only the financial side. The dividends paid in school spirit, student interest, prestige, due to the work of Crum, are inestimable. Loyalty to a good coach, for example, probably more than any single element made the Colonial team the fighting machine it showed itself to be this year.

"Maud" will have finished his three years this spring. From the financial standpoint alone, he is worth keeping at an increased salary. Without him, we face the prospect of "seven lean years" for athletics.

And the noteworthy part of it is that all students who have given the matter any thought feel exactly this way.

HIRE A HALL

Pathetic, heart-rending, tear-producing wails and woes, awaken the echoes of the campus as pleas are offered up for a Hall, Auditorium, or What Have You!

Just how badly a place is needed in which to hold the University's plays and lectures is realized only by those who have had either to practice or produce plays, debates or lectures and listen to them in the Gymnasium, well termed the "Tin Tabernacle" or the "H Street Ice Box."

Getting a date on which to hold a show such as the Annual Vodvil or playing off the Women's Basketball series, while varsity basketball holds sway, brings to the realization of many, the handicaps under which vital interests of the student body are either neglected or rushed through in a half-hearted manner. The result is a lack of enthusiasm is awakened in the students, but in its place pure, unadulterated disgust for the fact that a Gym is being looked upon as an athletic building, little theatre, lecture hall and dance floor.

PLAY BALL!

Thanksgiving is over, Christmas is on the way, and in the meantime we have with us the Intersorority Basketball Series. Once more the loyalists in the sorority rooms rally their cohorts and finally succeed in presenting a team composed of two varsity players and four promisees. Once more the girls who play varsity basketball get a little early practice and the girls who do not aspire to the team get a little unkind exercise. Once more sorority delegations watch inexperienced teams scramble through four short quarters of bad basketball. Once more time must be found in crowded days for an activity in which possibly fifty people, in a university of five thousand, are involved.

THE chief occasions of interest looming on the social horizon at present are the Football Hop and the Vodvil. The fraternities and sororities are evidently afraid to compete with these for popularity as they seem to be rather backward about coming forward with other entertainment.

The Gate and Key Society held a dance, at which many members, pledges and guests were present at the Phi Sigma Kappa house on Saturday, December 3.

The Sigma Chi "goats" gave a dance on Friday evening, December 2 in honor of the football team, Coach Crum, and the team's late meritorious season. The decorations were in keeping with the occasion. During the intermission Miss Janet Shepherd sang "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi." Later in the evening Coach Maud Crum gave a short talk. The dance was pronounced a success by everyone present.

Among those imbibing ginger ale at Wardman Friday were: Betty Brandenburg, Mary Temple Hill, Margaret Hoover, Julia Denning, Verna Parsons, Helen Walten, Billy Wright, Henry Sapp, Babe Whyte, Eddie Mollohan, Neil Stuhl, Burrus Williams, Alec Porter, Dick Wert and Billy Winsted.

Hazel Arrington entertained two tables of bridge at her apartment in the Jefferson on Wednesday, November 30.

Tom Fitch, Arthur Darton, Arthur Kimball, Vance Brand, Bill McReynolds and Johnny Dietz were among the many who had a big time attending the Army-Navy game and seeing New York.

Virginia Mitchell and Mary Virginia Lee were also among those present at the Army-Navy game on Saturday afternoon. They promised to root for both teams and compromised or so they claimed, by sitting on the Army side. Broadway, Midnight shows at the Paramount and the Roxy, with side trips to Chinatown, were the outstanding events of the trip. The girls are still trying to get used to provincial life in Washington.

Owing to the coldness of the weather, the long-heralded coon hunt to be given by the K. A's on Saturday night turned to a dance at the fraternity house. There was much division of opinion as to whether this was all for the best or not, but everybody seemed to enjoy themselves just the same.

The promisees of Chi Omega entertained the promisees of other sororities at a very attractive tea in the sorority rooms on Sunday afternoon. In spite of the bad weather the tea was very successful.

The active members of Alpha Delta Theta were the guests at a dance given by their promisees at the home of Louise Wenchel on Saturday, December 3.

Another of Dean Anna L. Rose's delightful teas for the women of the University was held Wednesday, November 30, in the Women's Building. Dean Rose is to be congratulated upon the well-merited response that these teas receive.

The marriage of Miss Eleanor Yates Haddox to Ensign David Merrill Tyree will take place o nthe evening of December 21st at the Woodside Grace Episcopal Church. Eleanor is a member of the Pi Beta Phi Sorority and has been a student at George Washington for the past three years.

Kappa Beta Pi legal sorority announces the pledging of Mrs. Ann Musgrave, Mrs. Elizabeth Casteel, Mary Esther Warlick, and Marion Campbell. The pledging was held last Wednesday night, November 30th, at the home of Helen Newman.

Phi Sigma Sigma celebrated the fourteenth anniversary of its founding by a musical afternoon tea.

Virginia Mitchell, Mary Virginia Lee, Peggy Knapp, Pauline Burd, Kitty Schneider and Peggy Schneider of Alpha Delta Theta are still talking about the wonderful time they had in New York last week at the installation of Xi chapter.

On Saturday afternoon, November 19, Phi Chapter of Alpha Epsilon Iota held initiation services at the Medical School for Esther A. Nathanson, of the class of 1925. Dr. Nathanson is now located at the New York City Cancer Hospital.

Mrs. Julia Parker Wildman, visiting inspector of Alpha Delta Theta, was guest of honor at the Founders' Day banquet given by Lambda Chapter of the fraternity at the Washington Hotel on November 29.

The Sigma Phi Pi fraternity is hustling in its preparations toward opening a chapter at this University. A smoker will be held during the week of December 12. A special meeting of the brothers will be held this Saturday at 7.30 p. m. at the Franklin Square Hotel.

Kappa Delta entertained on November 29th at a theatre party at the Fox, followed by supper in honor of their inspector, Mary Lou Leslie.

Alpha Delta Pi was well represented at the Army-Navy game in New York recently. Helen Kerr and Louise Mackall shouted for Army, while the Navy contingent consisted of Margaret Rees, Mary Cecilia and Bernardine Horn, Margaret Bouve and Helen Harter.

Phi Mu Fraternity entertained at a dinner in the rooms in honor of Aileen Hatfield of Gamma Eta chapter, who was one of the debaters here on the West Virginia team.

Miss Marjorie Simons spent Thanksgiving in New York for the Army and Navy game.

Phi Mu held a tea in honor of the mothers of the promisees, Friday, December 2nd.

Alpha Delta Pi announces the formal initiation of Wanda Webb and Caroline Hobbs on last Monday evening.

The Kappa Deltas have been entertaining their national inspector, Mary Lou Leslie, this week.

The Washington Alumni Chapter of Phi Alpha held a formal banquet at the Hotel Hamilton, November 29. There were fifty-six of the alumni present. The purpose to obtain a new home in Washington for the active chapter, here at George Washington, met with unanimous approval and a new home will be purchased before the close of the school year. Dr. David Davis, '18, the chairman of the new house committee, presided over the affair. One of the many guests present was Mr. Alexander Goodman, Supreme Grand Regent and Mr. Aimon Levitan, past Supreme Grand Regent.

Phi Alpha held its annual preconvention formal prom at the Lafayette on Friday night.

A testimonial banquet was tendered Judge Ullman of the Maryland Supreme Court by Phi Alpha, after a meeting of the National Council in Baltimore, December 4. Both meeting and banquet were attended by the members of Alpha chapter.

More than sixty members of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity attended the Alumni Smoker held at the Fraternity House, 1822 Eye Street, Friday evening, December 2.

Frederick Clifton Toal and Milton E. Kressler attended the Regional Conclave of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity, held at Knoxville, Tenn., Saturday, December 3.

POTENTIAL PROFS

No. 7—Lora Mercer Deibert

A typical co-ed of the flapper type is Miss Lora Mercer Deibert, whom her father, a member of the Romance Languages Departmnet, describes as "a decided blonde—yes, very decided."

Miss Deibert, who is now five years of age, attended school last year, and was particularly pleased with the dancing and playing which she was taught, but failed to enthuse greatly over the rest of the curriculum. This year, the young miss is enjoying life at home, content with vamping all the callers at Professor Alan T. Deibert's home.

To show her collegiate tendencies, Miss Deibert is especially pleased with gentlemen callers who are adorned with moustaches of various descriptions—a present day college fad, you know. The young lady is not at all shy (another collegiate tendency), and is very friendly.

At present, Miss Deibert is therefore interested in Romance, with a big "R" while Languages, as expounded by her father, have only a remote interest for the fair co-ed.

When Xerxes wept

THE great Persian ruler gazed from a hilltop upon his vast army of a million men. It was the largest army that had ever existed. And he turned away with tears in his eyes because in a hundred years all trace of it would be gone. That army was a symbol of power, destructive and transient.

Today in one machine, now being built in the General Electric shops, there is combined the muscular energy of two million men. This great machine, a steam turbine, is also a symbol of power—a new power that is constructive and permanent.

Its unprecedented size, a record in construction of such machines, is a pledge to the people that the electrical industry is on the march, ever on the alert to supply plenty of electricity at a low cost to all.

This mammoth steam turbine with a total capacity of 208,000 kilowatts (280,000 horse power) will be installed in the new station of the State Line Generating Company near Chicago. What a striking contrast between this huge generating unit and the group of home devices it operates—MAZDA lamps, fans, vacuum cleaners, and many others. Yet General Electric makes both.

Gamma Beta Pi Goes Up Another Notch

GAMMA BETA PI CONQUERS CHI O IN CLOSE FIGHT

Game, Played On December 1 In The Gym, Ends With Score Of 21 To 14

OUTSTANDING PLAYER OF GAME IS CRUMLEY

Chi Omega Leads at Half, But Loss of Brandenburg Hurts Team

Chi Omega and Gamma Beta Pi waged the hardest fought battle of the inter-sorority series in the gymnasium on Thursday evening, December 1, at 7.30 o'clock. The game ended, Gamma Beta Pi 21, Chi Omega 14.

From the first tap-off, both teams were on their toes. The lead went from one to the other team and not until the last whistle blew was the victory sure.

In the first quarter the ball moved up and down the court for several minutes until Naomi Crumley tossed a long, pretty shot for two points. This was followed by a two-point basket by Sally Hugus. After a foul, Virginia Cooper made a single point on a free shot and just before the whistle blew Naomi scored another two points for Gamma Beta Pi. Time was called, leaving the game 4-3 in favor of Gamma Beta Pi.

The second quarter started with Chi Omega taking the offensive, with some pretty passing. Both teams struggled hard to score. A large number of technical fouls were called and several personal ones. Sally Hugus was warned. Hugus scored one shot from the floor for two points and tossed two balls through the basket as a result of fouls. Gamma Beta Pi failed to score during the second quarter. Half was called with the score standing 7-4 with Chi O on the big end of the score.

Due to the accurate shooting of Naomi Crumley, the Gamma Beta Pi score crept up in the third quarter. The second shot of this period brought them the lead. Another basket thrown by Hugus gave the high score back to Chi O. Betty Brandenburg was warned on technical fouls. Crumley made a free shot, adding another point to the total. A final ball succeeded in reaching the Chi Omega basket before the whistle blew.

The fourth period saw Gamma Beta Pi in the lead. Naomi Crumley scored one shot from the floor for two points and caged a free goal for another count. Then Chi Omega came from behind and brought the score up to a tie. Betty Brandenburg then left the game on fouls, leaving the score 14-14. Evelyn Denny took Betty's place as guard. A few minutes time was called when Julia Denning was knocked out by a blow in the head. No substitution was made, however. Crumley made three more two-point shots before final time was called, and one foul basket, bringing the final score to 21-14, Gamma Beta Pi.

The game was extremely close from beginning to end, but showed a lack of training of both squads. Too many fouls were made for a fast game, while only on one occasion did the passing look like real teamwork. The Chi Omega team worked together as a unit more than its rival.

The best player on the court was Naomi Crumley, who was unusually quick at getting the ball and seldom missed any opportunity to score. Louise Omwake in the center outjumped Julia Denning, but this was balanced by the fact that Betty Armentrout outplayed Myrtle Crouch in center field.

A large number of spectators was present and each team was cheered by enthusiastic friends from the sidelines.

Matches Scheduled For Co-Ed Fencers

Major Blount Pleased With Results of First Few Lessons; Ten Girls Out for Fencing

Major Blount, who is instructing the George Washington University Fencing classes, holds out prospects of an interesting season for the team. He expects to arrange matches with other squads in the city.

Ten girls have shown unusual interest in fencing and have been holding regular classes every Tuesday and Thursday night from five until seven o'clock. Mrs. Russell and Miss Davis are prominent pupils of Major Blount.

Among the others are Florence Merriman, Betty Zimmerman, Nannie I. Anason, Carolyn Hobbs, Carolyn Siebert, Mary Brigham, Margaret Cook and Elizabeth Robinet.

Major Blount is very encouraged by the fencing exhibited by his pupils and wishes to match them against two other groups that he is teaching. A trip to Annapolis to watch the good fencing displayed there, is contemplated as a means of instruction for the George Washington University fencers.

FENCING CLASSES NOW CONDUCTED BY BLOUNT

Classes Held Tuesday and Thursday Evenings in Gymnasium

Major Walter E. Blount is now conducting fencing classes on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from five to seven in the gym. The class is smaller between five and six, and those wishing to attend should come between these hours because they will receive more individual attention. Fencing is now approved in the University and is being worked up into a major activity. It is open to anyone who wishes to join. Those wishing to participate should have a physical examination. There is a small fee of fifty cents for each fencing lesson.

The fencing master is very much pleased with the work he finds here, and believes he has material for a team. Plans are now under way toward arranging for keen competition. Approved intercollegiate methods are being used.

Major Blount plans to make a trip to Annapolis in order to observe the fencing at the Naval Academy when there is to be a fencing match.

G. W. RIFLEMEN DEFEAT V. P. I.

New Man Does Well As V. P. I. Bows To Buff and Blue In Opening Contest

DECISIVE SCORE FEATURES

Parsons and Leonard Tie for First Place Among G. W. High Five

The G. W. Men's Rifle Team defeated V. P. I. in a telegraphic match, the first of the season, by the decisive score of 1381 to 1310.

F. T. Parsons, G. W. captain, and R. S. Leonard, former captain of the Western High School Rifle Team, tied for first honors for G. W. with the score of 278.

Individual scores have not yet been received from Virginia Polytech. The five high men for G. W. shot as follows:

	Stand'g.	Kneel'g.	Prone.	Total.
Parsons	89	93	96	278
Leonard	89	90	99	278
Riley	89	90	98	277
Prentiss	91	86	97	274
Campbell	88	86	100	274
				1381

Early Showings Good

As a bit of rivalry among themselves, the men's team fired a preliminary match to settle the speculation that has been rife since pre-season days. The two prophecies most frequently heard proved correct. G. W's old men were up to their usual nigh standard; and their G. W. grit helped overcome the smaller size of the new target. Considering the great reduction, the scores were phenomenal.

Captain Parsons led the team with a total of 284 out of a possible 300, being closely followed by the other four high men. The five high scores were:

F. T. Parsons	284
G. B. Campbell	283
R. A. Leighey	282
H. E. Riley	277
J. A. Schricker	272

New Rule Hurts

The National Rifle Association, arbiter of intercollegiate matches, resumed its uncompromising war on high scores with the declaration that from now on and hence forward the hip rest in connection with the standing position will be taboo in the best rifle circles. The off-arm position to be used in the future is the same as that now employed in outdoor shooting. Lower indoor scores will thus undoubtedly result, while outdoor shooting will remain unaffected. The new regulations will be effective in all matches after that with M. I. T. this week.

Engineer's Frosh And Sophs End Scoreless

Penalties at Crucial Moments Carry Ball Back to Center; Last Year Frosh Defeated

The annual classic of the campus gridiron was held November 30, at the Tidal Basin field between the Freshmen and Sophomore Engineers, resulting in a scoreless tie.

Bad breaks at crucial moments for both teams caused the snake-eye score. Several times within touching distance of the six-point lines, penalties occurred, carrying the ball back to be held by the threatened eleven.

Costumed in suits of the varsity, the two aggregations fought a battle of friends which was enjoyed by nearly all the available substitutes of both teams.

Many will recall the overwhelming defeat of the Engineer Frosh last year, but this year saw the green boys stave off the slaughter, a feat which was nearly as good as a victory to them.

RECREATIONAL GYM CLASS

Beginning January 3, on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7.15 to 8 a recreational gym class will be held, providing as many as sixteen girls are interested.

Evening basketball classes will be held from 8 to 9 o'clock. All girls who are interested may report to Miss Davis in the gym.

Gamma Beta Pi and Phi Mu Remain Undefeated In Intersorority Series

PHI MU VICTORY IS UPSET

Games Played in Gymnasium Tuesday, November 29, Unmarked by Brilliant Playing

Gamma Beta Pi won a decisive victory over Pi Beta Phi on Tuesday, November 29 in the gymnasium, with a score of 21-7. In the second intersorority game of the evening Kappa Delta was vanquished by Phi Mu, 21-14.

The Pi Phi-Gamma Beta Pi game began at 7.30. The Gamma Beta Pi team showed a marked superiority over its rival team from the beginning of the game.

Crumley Scores

Naomi Crumley outran and outjumped her guard time after time and caged seven two-point goals. She also tossed five free shots through the basket. Eileen Gardner, who also played forward for Gamma Beta Pi scored one two-point goal.

Louise Berryman made two two-point shots for Pi Phi and a single free shot. Betty Waller, substitute for Elizabeth Miles, also threw two balls in the basket for a total of four counts.

Phi Mu-K. D. Game Surprise

The second game of the evening was less one-sided, but no brilliant playing was displayed. Dorothy Pullen, a "find" of the season, scored heavily against the Kappa Deltas, making six goals in the first half, three in the second and two free shots. Katherine Bannerman also brought in points for Phi Mu. She tossed three foul shots for counts and caged one goal from the floor. Alys Ewers scored five of the Kappa Delta goals in the first period. Estella Humphreys netted a single shot in the second half and Cecyle Taylor scored on two free shots.

The Kappa Delta-Phi Mu game was the most complete upset of the intersorority matches. The Kappa Deltas won the cup last year and they lose any present chance of holding it three successive seasons by this defeat.

FROSH BASKETEERS MUST REPORT DEC. 7

Freshmen Will Be Watched With Interest For Promising Material; One-Year Rule Holds

"Freshmen basketball candidates report in the Gym Wednesday," is the request made by Head Coach "Maud" Crum, as he prepares for the court season.

The one-year rule now in effect holds good for the ball tossers, and it is with much interest that the frosh will be watched this season.

While no information has been given regarding the handling of the first-year cagemen it is almost certain that there will be a freshman coach for them.

An interesting schedule is in the making, according to Manager Herzog, who is preparing a list of games which will be announced later.

Needless to say, it is up to the frosh of this year to succeed the varsity men in the future, so that all men interested and those who have had experience on the court are urged to report for practice.

HOCKEY TRIO BREAKS

MONTREAL, Que. (IP.)—Another "Big Three" has broken up. The Rugby and Ice Hockey union of Eastern Canada, combining McGill, Queen's and Toronto in an athletic league, has dissolved after serious objections to the one man-one sport rule recently enacted by the union. Queen's was the objecting school, claiming that the rule which allowed one man to engage in only one sport was designed to benefit McGill, the largest of the three universities.

McGill denies this, and says that it will form a hockey union which will include several northeastern schools in the United States, including Harvard and Dartmouth.

BLUE DOWNS RED IN EXHIBIT GAME

Basketball Game Is Interesting Feature of Freshmen Mothers' Day Program

BEST PLAYERS CHOSEN

N. Crumley Scores Largest Number of Points, With E. Sowers a Close Second

As a special feature of the entertainment provided for visiting mothers at G. W. last Friday, Dec. 2, an exhibition basketball game was played in the gym by two teams of the University's best players.

The two teams, differentiated as the Reds and the Blues, consisted of the coach's choice of the women who would make the playing fastest and most interesting to watch, and were divided into squads impartially. Players were substituted and changed from position to position on either team without regard to original classifications, in order to speed up the playing as the need showed itself.

The Blue team must have started out with the stronger combination, because during the first half of the game the ball was consistently carried down the floor to the Blue forward territory for a basket. In the second half, however, players were changed about to even matters up and the Red team began to pile up points as well, but were checked by the final whistle before the score of the Blues could be equalled. The Blues won the hard-fought battle with a score of 21-14.

Crumley, as forward, carried on her usual brilliant line of play, regardless of playing one half for the Blues and the other for the Reds. In the first half she made six points for the Blues and in the last scored nine for the Reds. Sowers, playing exclusively for the Blues, sank her shots with precision for thirteen points during the game.

Omwake played center for the Blues and found worthy opponents in both Denning and Turnbull as centers for the opposing team. Turnbull played as side center with Denning at center, until the latter was transferred to position of guard.

The significance of this game at the beginning of the basketball season of the year is the fact that powerful combinations of teamwork are being tried out, with an eye open for prospects for the varsity squad.

The line-up was as follows:

Blues (21)		Reds (14)
N. Crumley	R.F.	V. Cooper
E. Sowers	L.F.	J. McGregor
L. Omwake	C.	J. Denning
M. Sproul	S.C.	J. Turnbull
A. Graham	R.G.	M. Adams
J. Sime	L.G.	B. Brandenburg

Substitutions: Denning for Adams, Turnbull for Denning, Irey for Turnbull, Crouch for Sproul, Crumley for McGregor, McGregor for Crumley.

The game was referreed by Miss Eugenia Davis; time kept by Mrs. A. H. Russell and score kept by Sarah Reed.

SOCCER PRACTICE

The girls' soccer team will start practice next week, and will continue to practice every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon as long as the weather permits. The team will be coached by Miss Davis.

ARCHITECTS WIN OVER ENGINEERS

Good Football Material Shows Itself Late In The Season

POLICE PROTECT GRASS

Barnes and Tilly are Outstanding in Battle Played in Sea of Mud

A team representing the School of Architecture turned back an aggregation from the School of Engineering last Saturday by a score of 12-0.

Because of the stormy weather and slippery field, the Architects made the Engineers' speed of no avail. The lighter team ably captained by Walter Tilley, resorted to passing and kicking to gain ground, only to be driven back by the plunges of the heavy Architect backs, Lillie and Barnes.

The Monument Lot last Saturday was not far removed from the muddy Potomac River in more ways than one. The few spectators standing in ice-cold mud were impressed by this intramural contest, and more than one wondered at the showing of football material so late in the season.

One of the amusing incidents connected with the game developed when a motorcycle policeman came upon twelve or fourteen automobiles all bearing George Washington pennants, and all parked at right angles to the road, facing on the field so their occupants could watch the game without turning sidewise. This meant that the front wheels must be on the grass.

Arrest Threatened

The officer told each driver to line up on the road with his motor running, telling them that he was going to take them all to the station house. After holding them in suspense, he drove off admonishing them not to drive on the grass again.

As for the game itself, the first quarter was uneventful, each team fumbling excessively, and neither gaining any ground. In the second quarter, Captain Barnes, of the Architects, scored a touchdown through the medium of intercepting a pass, and crashing through for several good gains through the line. The attempt for the extra point failed. In the third quarter Lillie made the other touchdown after a number of successful passes, and line plunges. Due to the sloppy kicking, the Architects' trial for the extra point again failed.

The individual stars for the Architects were Lillie and Barnes, while Tilley and Davis shone especially bright for the Engineers.

The line-up:

Architects.		Engineers.
Grand	L. E.	Sterrett
Spane	L. T.	A. Lewis
Weihe	L. G.	R. Lewis
Burgess	C.	Copes
Brown	R. G.	Coomos

Himmelhaver	R. E.	Biggs
Lillie	Q. B.	Frank
Beall	R. H. B.	Davis
Peters	L. H. B.	(C) Tilley
Barnes (C)	F. B.	Bruce

The score:

Architects	0	6	6	0	—12
Engineers	0	0	0	0	— 0

Touchdowns—Barnes, Lillie. Referee, Stehman (G. W.). Umpire, Perry, (G. W.). Timekeeper, Prof. Crandall (School of Architecture), and Prof. Johnson (School of Engineering). Linesman, Farrar (G. W.).

STEHMAN CAPTAIN OF 1928 FOOTBALL TEAM

During Two Years at George Washington Has Made Name For Himself in Backfield

Ivan Stehman, whose brilliant work in the George Washington backfield for the past two years earned for him the honor of captain of the 1928 football team, has been active in athletics since his high school days.

Born in Lancaster, Pa., in 1905, Stehman attended the grade schools of that city. He then went to the Lancaster Junior High School, where he competed in all sports.

At the Lancaster High School he was active in all forms of athletics, and was one of the mainstays of the football team which won the county championship. He was captain of basketball in his junior year, his team winning the county high school championship.

After graduating from high school, the new Colonial captain attended the Millersville State Normal School, where he captained both the football and basketball teams for two years.

Started Here in 1926

Stehman came to George Washington in the fall of 1926, making the football squad in that year. He was one of the main cogs in the powerful offense of the Hatchetites during the season just closed, doing the bulk of the punting. He has been rated by Coach "Maud" Crum as "one of the fastest starting backfield men in collegiate circles."

In addition to his prowess as a punter, Stehman is a line-plunger of rare ability, and an exceptional broken-field runner.

Stehman says that he expects to go out for the varsity basketball quint this year, and intends to enter the broad jump and high jump events in the track meets next spring. He plays guard on the basketball squad.

Since Stehman is a sophomore here this year, he is eligible to compete for two more years in intercollegiate sports.

With sport writers in all sections of the country choosing their All-American football elevens, The Hatchet, entering into the spirit of the post season sport, endeavors to select an All-District team from among the outstanding players of the colleges of the District of Columbia.

It is entirely possible that an eleven equally as strong as the first and second team given above might be selected which would contain several other names. It is believed, however, that the credit given to those men who are selected is due them for their playing during the past season, and if there are others who are equally as outstanding who have not been mentioned it is merely because there are only eleven positions on each team to be filled.

G. W. COURT QUINTET DEVELOPING RAPIDLY

Fourteen Games Have Been Definitely Scheduled With Several Encounters Still Pending

The George Washington Basketball team will open its regular basketball season against Bridgewater College on December 21, in the George Washington Gymnasium.

Fourteen games have been definitely scheduled, including games with Navy, at Annapolis, Catholic University, and William and Mary in the major contests. Two games with American University and another game with Catholic University still remain to be scheduled.

With a veteran team working out under Coach Crum for the past week with satisfactory results the outlook for the coming season appears to be bright. Among the men who look good in practice are: Carey, Sapp, Perry, Goodson, Allshouse, Lopeman, all football men and consequently in mid-season form, and Young, Shaffert and Gray of last year's freshman squad.

In the workouts during the past week the Colonials have displayed mid-season form in their shooting and passing, and Coach Crum, who guided the football team to its most successful season in the school's history, has been quite pleased with the showing of the squad.

The following is the schedule as arranged thus far:

December 24—Bridgewater, at home.
January 4—Gallaudet, at home.
January 7—Navy, away.
January 12—Hampden-Sidney, away.
January 13—Medical College of Virginia, away.
January 14—William and Mary, away.
January 21—Catholic University, at home.
January 28—University of Baltimore, at home.
February 2—Roanoke, at home.
February 4—Wake Forest, at home.
February 9—Medical College of Virginia, at home.
February 11—Hampden-Sidney, at home.
February 15—St. Bonaventure, at home.
February 16—Guilford, at home.

IVAN STEHMAN NAMED 1928 GRIDIRON CAPTAIN

Coach Crum introduced all the members of the squad, beginning with Captain Allshouse, and in announcing that Stehman had been elected captain for the coming year, characterized him as "one of the best offensive backs that I have ever seen." He also called attention to the fact that Emory Clapper, halfback, has tied the collegiate record for running back the kickoff, having twice run 95 yards from kickoff for a touchdown. As far as is indicated in the official record books, the only other man to accomplish this feat twice in one season are the famous Harold "Red" Grange, and "Gibby" Welch, of Pittsburgh.

Never Saw Faster Football Man

"I have never seen a faster man in a football uniform than Clapper," said Crum in closing his remarks.

The coach also announced that five big games already have been signed up for 1928. They are with City College of New York, Catholic University, Penn State, Fordham University, and Lafayette College. Ten games will be played next year, according to Coach Crum.

Henry Grattan Doyle, Dean of Men, told of plans of the Administration to develop the athletic program at George Washington, and expressed the hope that athletics would soon be broadened so as to allow each student to participate in at least one athletic activity.

Moving pictures of three of George Washington's home games were shown on the screen by Dr. H. S. Hoffman, graduate of the Medical School, who took the pictures.

Lewis Moneyway headed the committee in charge of the banquet. The other members of the committee are Miss Irene Pistorio, Harold E. Warner, and Mrs. Joshua Evans, Jr., of the Board of Trustees.

RIFLE MATCH WILL BE SHOT WITH W. VIRGINIA

Six Girls Are Selected By Walter Stokes to Try-out For Varsity Rifle Team

A number of girls have been selected to tryout for the varsity Rifle Team which will shoot its first match against West Virginia University on December 17.

Roberta Wright, India Belle Corea, Arline Spencer, Marion Stewart Joyce Betty Graham, and Christine Stewart have been selected by Coach Stokes to report on Saturday, December 10, before 3 o'clock, to try out for varsity squad.

Walter Stokes announces that rifle prospects this year are better than ever before. Six girls remain from the varsity team of last year and two will be picked from the present squad. Also two members will be chosen from among the new girls.

At present there are three out-of-town matches scheduled. The first match of the season will be telegraphic against West Virginia University.

In the future scores will be recorded on the actual position of each shot instead of the entire group of shots.

Betty Hall, an assistant manager of last year, has been reappointed to that position for Thursday afternoons and Margaret Melton is the new selection for assistant manager for Tuesday night classes.

J. Cloyd Byars, Jr., a former student in the George Washington University, is compiler and editor of a volume entitled Black and White: An Anthology of Washington Verse, which appeared in the book stores Monday. The book is published by The Crane Press of Washington, and eight of the seventeen contributors to the work are either students or former students of George Washington. It thus gives a sort of resume of the poetic efforts of students of the University of the last few years.

Heading the list is Courtland Darke Baker, Instructor of English, who obtained his degrees here. He is represented by nine poems. Byars says of him, in a note, "His poetry, for its clean craftsmanship, is outstanding in this anthology. Almost always his presentation of his subject is done expertly."

"Black and White" is unique as a volume for two reasons: First, is a rather humorous dedication of the book to Calvin Coolidge, suggesting that he "fill a needed office in American culture—that of a free-speaking, whimsical, philosophic commentator on the American people and their political arena." His introductions to the contributors are pointed and critical, as well as biographical. Second, is the inclusion of negro poets in the anthology. Chief among these is Georgia Douglas Johnson, widow of Henry Lincoln Johnson, Republican National Committeeman from Georgia. For this reason, the volume is attracting widespread attention among the negro intellectuals. It was this factor which gives the book its name, "Black and White."

George Washington contributors, besides Baker, are Alvin G. McNish, former student and an instructor in one of the Washington high schools; N. Bryllion Fagin, now Instructor in English at University of Maryland; Lucile Everett; Byars himself; Jacob Rosenthal, Wroe Alderson, and Sherman Elbridge Johnson, all students.

J. C. Byars was born in Bristol, Va., in 1898, and before coming to George Washington was a student at William and Mary. He is on the editorial staff of the Washington Times. He comes from an old Virginia family, which makes his impartiality to negro verse writers even more remarkable.

TROUBADOURS TO PRODUCE COMEDY JANUARY NINTH

"S. S. Silver Phizz" Floating University To Be Scene Scene Of Play

TENTATIVE CAST CHOSEN

Dennis Connell to Coach Collegiate Farce; Tryouts To Be Held in Bunny Hole

The Troubadour musical comedy will be given at the Wardman Park Theater commencing the week of January 9, it was announced this week by Elmer Brown and Larry Parker, producers of the musical plays for the past two years.

Although the title of the original musical comedy has not been determined, a small inkling of the plot would lead one immediately to classify it as a "collegiate musical farce." The first act is laid outside of a fraternity house in a midwestern university, in a typical college town. In the second act the scene changes to the "S. S. Silver Phizz." There you've guessed it—a "floating university," where the remainder of the play takes place.

This allows a wide scope for the various college activities to come into play, which will be largely reflected in song and dance. The true collegiate spirit will rule the musical comedy. The "floating university" will also present unusual opportunities for something new, which even the professional musical comedy producers have not grasped.

Dennis Connell has been chosen to direct the Troubadours this year. Mr. Connell has for some time been identified with the local St. Patrick Players. Now that this prominent group has disbanded, the new director will devote himself to the Troubadours.

The St. Patrick Players were long noted for their many excellent productions, and their fame has since spread on the road and to Broadway, where some of the local stars have achieved the highest success possible.

Very successful tryouts for the cast of the show were held last week. More than 40 students were present at these meetings, from which number a tentative cast has been selected. The definite cast will be announced within a short time.

Chorus tryouts are also being announced by the Troubadours this week. Mary Virginia Leckie, who for the past two years has directed the dances of the Troubadours' musical comedies, is again in charge of dancing.

George Spangler and Kenneth Yearns are doing publicity and advertising; the costumer and other staff members have not yet been selected. Assistants are urgently needed for directors of the various departments, in order to acquire experience in case a student is needed to step into any such managership that may arise. Upon graduation by a manager of such a department, the opportunities for the assistant are apparent.

The Troubadours have acquired for their use the old "Bunny Hole," underneath the late University Cafeteria. Here it will be convenient to hold chorus training as well as cast rehearsals. It will serve as general headquarters for the organization, and all desiring information concerning the musical comedy may come to this room.

The Wardman Park Theater has been adjudged to be a suitable place for the University production from the standpoint of environment and easy accessibility. A plan that is now being formulated by the Troubadours consists of arranging a number of Fraternity or Sorority nights that would add to the interest of the musical comedy.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Katharine Todd in Chevy Chase on Thursday, December 17, at eight o'clock.

Dr. Desclos Says French Education Surpasses U. S.

Universities Offer Equality to Men and Women; Are Democratic Yet Aristocratic

In a recent address given at the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Auguset V. Desclos of Paris told how French education has come to be both more democratic and more aristocratic than education in the United States.

The standards are of the aristocratic best in scholarship, he explained, and yet the highest training can be had for fees which make it open to all. The total for two years of university work leading to an M. A. degree is only about $18; for three years of law, $63; and for six years of medicine, $78.

French Universities are now open to women on an equal footing with men, but it is only since the reestablishment of the French Republic after the downfall of Napoleon III in 1870, that this has been so. Napoleon Bonaparte's idea was that women's place was in the home and that she needed no education.

Died on September 3

Dr. John Wesley Bovee, eminent surgeon of the District of Columbia and an internationally recognized authority on gynecology and obstetrics, died on September 3 in Columbia Hospital at the age of 65, following an illness of 11 weeks. Dr. Bovee long had been identified with local hospitals and scientific societies pertaining to surgery and medicine, and was connected with George Washington University for about 45 years.

Born in Clayton, N. Y., December 31, 1861, Dr. Bovee was the son of the late William Henry and Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Roat Bovee. In the same year he was appointed gynecologist of Providence and George Washington University Hospitals, respectively. In addition, he had served for many years as consulting physician for St. Ann's Orphan Asylum.

Dr. Bovee was professor of gynecology at George Washington University from 1896 to 1926.

He was also a member of the American Medical Association, serving as chairman of its section on gynecology and obstetrics in 1907; a member of the District of Columbia Medical and Surgical Society, at one time serving as president.

After rapidly gaining recognition as an authority on gynecology, Dr. Bovee wrote "Bovee's Practice of Gynecology." He was the author also of some 200 other articles on medical subjects which were published in the leading medical journals. His original contributions to surgery have been recognized throughout the world.

Football Team Hears Scandal of Its Members' Private Lives at Grid Dinner

Movies of Home Gridiron Games, "Radio Announcements," Letter From Will Rogers, Ruth Elder and Colonel Lindbergh All Are Part of Occasion

A marked degree of restlessness on the part of members of the football team which at times developed into real discomfiture prevailed during the first two courses of the Football Banquet in the Gold Room of the Hotel Lafayette last Thursday evening. Choice bits of "scandal" poured forth from the loud speaker near the center of the room, with the net result that there were no less than fifteen more or less blushing faces among the gridiron warriors whose innermost secrets were divulged.

No one was slighted by the "broadcaster," who seemed to have gotten several very intimate glimpses into the "lives of the great."

Reveals Scandals

It seems, according to the "radio announcer," that after the T. U. O. dance on Thanksgiving night a number of the football boys were returning to their quarters in the vicinity of Twenty-first and G Streets. One of them, who was feeling especially good, expressed his exuberance by smashing a milk bottle on the pavement in front of Number 3 Engine House. He was quickly "bought to earth" by the strong arm of the law which appeared out of nowhere and forced him to get down on his hands and knees and pick up the pieces of broken glass.

The real reasons for certain nicknames of various members of the squad were divulged, as well as many of the secret weaknesses of several of the "Iron Men."

Hoarse whispers of "That's Athey," "There goes Clapper," "Lookit Carey," and the like broke forth while the motion pictures of the games were being shown by Dr. H. S. Hoffman. The team seemed to get a big laugh out of the "close up" pictures of themselves as they were flashed on the screen.

Rogers' Open Letter Read

An alleged "open letter" from Will Rogers to President Marvin was read over the "radio." MY DEAR you ACtually can't iMAGine how they LAUGHed at it!

Anyhow, here it is:

"Dear Cloyd: All I know is just what I read in the papers, and all I can find in the papers is column after column about that great football team of yours.

"All this fall I've been hunting through the morning papers to find what new city has refused to have the Democratic Convention, and what my friend Cal hasn't been choosing to do, and do you think I can find any of it?

"No sir, the only front page news has been that Clapper has made another brilliant run; that Sapp may be an All-American; that Coach Crum has refused a big offer to coach the Navy next year, and is being offered all kinds of money to show people that there is still a little school named Harvard. If anybody can handle these jobs, it's Crum.

"Why that G. W. team reminds me of the old team we had in high school back in Claremore, Oklahoma. That team when it got going was like a steam roller in soft asphalt.

"Cloyd, I'd like to be at that dinner tonight and see the alumni feed that team turkey. It deserves it.

"But, Cloyd, I didn't like the rumor that they are going to sign up at Hollywood when they get their diplomas. You and me have been there, and my advice is "keep 'em East" if you have to flunk 'em.

"Flunk 'em regular every year and keep 'em adding glory to George Washington until they're too old to play football. Then send 'em to Hollywood to play the heavy lovers. That's all my advice for today. Yours, Will."

"Ruth Elder" Appears

Everyone craned his neck when "Ruth Elder" came in. "Ruth" said she had just received "a little check for $100,000, and thought it would be nice for the Third Unit if Dr. Marvin would like it." In accepting the "check," Dr. Marvin said that it would be used for a huge stadium for the football team.

"Colonel Lindbergh's" remarks proved amusing to the guests. He said he had flown over the games which George Washington had played this year. One of the football men asked if it was he who dropped the C. U. pennant over the G. W. stands on Thanksgiving Day. "Colonel Lindbergh" answered in the negative.

After the dinner was over, members of the Board of Trustees, prominent alumni, football players, and mere professors could be seen carrying vari-colored balloons bearing the legend "G. W. U. Football Banquet" and crepe paper dolls which could be worn as hats "home to the kids," as one well known faculty member put it. Whether or not the "kids" ever saw the balloons and dolls remains a mystery, however.

MENORAH MEETS

The Menorah Society had a very successful meeting on Wednesday, November 30, in C. H. 17. Esther Wecksler gave an interesting talk on the life and works of Sholem Aleichem, the Jewish Mark Twain; and Lena Hyatt read, in Yiddish, "Berele Isaac's" a story that is typical of this great author. A discussion followed. All who were present enjoyed a pleasant evening.

JUNIORS WILL MEET TUESDAY, DECEMBER 13

Juniors in all Departments Urged to Attend; Junior Prom to be Discussed

The meeting of the Junior class of Columbian College, is definitely scheduled for Tuesday, December 13, at 8.00 p. m. in Room 29, Corcoran Hall.

The purpose of this meeting is to consider the Junior class social calendar for the balance of the year. The most important item of which is the Prom. It is intended that the Columbian Juniors cooperate with the Juniors of the other Colleges of the University to make as brilliant an affair of their Prom as is possible—one that is in keeping with the best traditions of George Washington. It is hoped to form at this meeting the nucleus of an organization capable of attending to the necessary details of promoting this event.

All considerations pertaining to Junior Week will be thoroughly discussed, as well as the matter of year book photographs.

The Columbian Juniors wish to invite officers and members of the other Junior classes of the University to meet with them, and especially solicit whatever advice they may have to offer looking to the establishment of perfect liaison with them.

CO-ED DEBATERS DOWN WEST VA.

Unanimous Decision of Judges Gives Victory to George Washington Team

LILLIAN RHODES CLEVER

G. W. Argued That U. S. Should Not Abandon The Monroe Doctrine

The George Washington Women's Debating team defeated West Virginia unanimously Thursday, December 1, supporting the negative side of the question, "Resolved: That the United States Should Now Abandon the Monroe Doctrine."

As a whole, the West Virginia team lacked organization and experience. They held that the Monroe Doctrine protects a monarchical system of government, that the policy is no longer necessary for the security of the United States or the protection of the Latin-American countries, that it causes ill feeling, and that it has compelled the United States to become an imperialistic nation.

G. W. Team Well Organized

Virginia Frye, Lillian Rhodes, and Ruth Kernan, supporting the negative side, which was well organized and well presented, argued that the Monroe Doctrine was originated for securing and promoting freedom, and that the progress of South America was largely due to the protection of the United States. They showed that the policy was necessary as a stabilizing factor in our commerce and for the well-being of the Latin-American countries—that abandonment would be disastrous to both parties. Lillian Rhodes was very clever in her presentation, giving spice and fire to the opposition.

Neither side did well in the refutation, West Virginia merely reiterating its former statements.

Dean Rose presided. The judges were Representative Walton Moore of Virginia, Representative Charles Sternes of Ohio, and Dean Woods of American University.

MOTHERS' DAY IS UNDER AUSPICES OF DEAN ROSE

normal reactions. Her job is one of leadership. An understanding of the girls who do not 'follow in' is necessary so that she can conceive the fundamental things."

President Marvin told the mothers of the aptitude of Dean Rose in meeting with the young girls, and how she learns the aims of the girls and understands them.

The life of youth can be made fuller and richer if it lives the four years in college well and with a purpose. With the mothers as companions, President Marvin continued, there would be a cooperation which would abolish many limitations.

In closing President Marvin said, "We are here today to work together."

First Mother's Day

"What Every Mother Should Know About College," was explained by Dean Anna L. Rose to the assembled mothers. Dean Rose opened her talk with the explanation that this is the first time the University has had Mothers' Day, and she hoped there would be many more such meetings with a view to gaining cooperation all around.

The object of her topic was to tell the mothers what they should know about college, and not how to bring up their daughters, Dean Rose said. When a girl registers in the University, she is not merely taking English and history, etc., but her status is that of a George Washington woman.

Dean Rose briefly outlined the history of the University, beginning with the founding in 1821, and coming down to the present non-sectarian organization. The first school was the Columbian University on College Hill at Fourteenth Street and Florida Avenue. In 1904, because of the similarity to that of Columbia University in New York City, the name was changed to George Washington University. George Washington in his will had wanted to found in this city a University that should be a real memorial.

After moving from H Street to I Street, the University finally moved to 2023 G Street. Dean Rose told how much Dean Hodgkins and Dean Wilbur have done to carry on the University. There came many improvements after the removal to G Street, and the University could now live on the tuition fees. Mr. Lisner gave the then large sum of twenty-five thousand dollars to pay off the mortgage upon the building.

Dean Rose then drew a picture of the idea and ideal of the University. The first two units, Corcoran Hall and Stockton Hall now completed, will be united by buildings around the entire block. And the campus is to be made more beautiful.

In explaining about the University as it is today, Dean Rose began by giving the registration figures. There are this year four thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine students in all colleges and departments of the University. In the Arts College, which includes all except the Medical and Law Schools, there are three thousand, eight hundred and ninety-five students, of which one thousand nine hundred and sixty are men, and one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five are women. There are seventeen women this year in the Medical School, which is the largest number there has ever been. And there are thirteen hundred and twenty-five full time college students.

Night School

Dean Rose then told how the expression "Night School" had done much harm to the late afternoon classes, and she called upon the mothers to use propaganda in wiping out this expression. She explained that there are no lectures after five-ten and six-ten o'clock, and that the texts and lectures are exactly the same in these classes as in the morning classes. "The students who work and come in the late afternoon," said Dean Rose, "have to meet the same entrance requirements as the regular student. All we do is arrange a convenient hour for his work. And so it is not Night School, but regular college work, and we should say rather the student with limited schedule."

"There are one hundred and sixty-four full time Freshmen girls this year," continued Dean Rose. "My main interest is the Freshmen girls. The upper class girls are my friends, but I don't stay awake nights thinking about them as I do about the Freshmen."

The next point considered was the grading system. The system: A-90-100; B—80-89; C—70-79; D—60-69; E—50-59 (Condition); and F—Failed. Dean Rose made clear that if a student were conditioned, he might make it up under any conditions imposed by the professor.

The school requirements of a grade of C, as above, in two-thirds of the number of hours a student might be carrying, was brought up.

"There are twenty-seven different things which can enter into a failure," said Dean Rose, "and they are all legitimate—which a student can not help, but not studying is the only illegitimate cause for failure."

Parents Man Get Reports

In telling about the class list sent in each month to the registrar's office upon which the professor notes the students who are particularly poor in a subject, Dean Rose told how often students go to her office to talk over a failure which they will not discuss with the Dean of their college. And she told the mothers that the student's report might be sent direct to the parents wherever it was desired.

And finally Dean Rose explained about the dropping of a subject. A student is not supposed to drop a course, and he is charged a fee of two dollars to do so. If a course is dropped after December 1, the student gets failure regardless of their work.

The Place of the Y. W.

The "Y" was the subject of the talk of Helen Dix, President of the Y. W. C. A.

The most democratic organization in G. W. is the "Y." It takes in everybody and everyone has something to do. It is the only organization that completely unifies the girls.

Social service work is done on the outside at Thanksgiving, Christmas, and other times during the year, many orphans being thus benefited by the "Y."

Girls should feel that they belong to G. W. and not just to cliques, which makes it possible to make friends more easily when they leave G. W.

Dr. Hornaday Stresses Health

"Anxiety to Serve," was the keynote of the talk entitled "Health Habits of College Girls," made by Dr. F. A. Hornaday, University Physician.

Dr. Hornaday told of the regular gym work for the benefit of the college girls. "Time was," he said, "when the languishing girl was popular. Today the girl is just as vigorous and husky as the boy of the family. Every student should take gym work unless some defect prevents it, and that defect should be ascertained by a physical examination.

In his examinations, Dr. Hornaday told of finding flat feet prevalent among the girls, which he said he was convinced was due to high heeled shoes. Sensible shoes can be bought at a moderate price, and they go a long way to preserve an elasticity of step.

He told how slight curvatures of the spine, due to faulty posture, if taken care of early might prevent serious illness.

Regarding the question of overwork, if a student can have his school work and work outside also, it is very fine, but students think they can get by with only five or six hours sleep, and in that way take too much work. A student needs eight hours of sleep. First comes education, then extra-curricular activities, but health comes first of all.

"What profits if a man gain an education and lose his health?" And in closing Dr. Hornaday said, "Any University which fails to lay down as its first principle service to a student, fails in its purpose."

At the close of his talk, Dr. Hornaday answered any questions asked by the mothers.

Chapel Led by Dean Doyle

The next thing on the program was a gymnasium exhibition under the direction of Mrs. Russell in the Gym. Upon the conclusion of this, the mothers waded through the rain back to Corcoran Hall for the Friday Chapel conducted by Dean Doyle, Dean of Men.

Following a hymn sung by the whole assembly, there was a duet by Miss Jordon and Mr. Madison, with Mr. Mason at the piano.

Dean Doyle spoke upon the commandment, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

Luncheon was served in cafeteria style. The food was prepared in the domestic science laboratories under Dr. Denton's supervision and served by girls on the Women's Council.

Mrs. Joshua Evans made a short speech after lunch. There followed talks by student leaders, extending greetings to the mothers.

"Scholarship" was the subject on which Marcelle LeMenager spoke. There are two things which tend toward scholarly attainment, the intellectual capacity of the student and the early environment which fosters intellectual curiosity.

"Student Activities" was discussed by Elizabeth Wright. The importance of college activities lies in that they make a well rounded college girl. DEBATE SOCIETY VIEWS MERCHANT MARINE QUESTION

Prepared Arguments To Be Followed By General Discussion

PLAN TO UNITE DEBATERS

Administration's Policy in Latin-America Condemned in Heated Discussion at Last Meeting

The Columbian Debating Soicety offers the following subject for discussion at its next weekly meeting in Corcoran Hall on December 9: "Resolved, That this house believes the United States should retain a merchant marine."

The affirmative will be presented by Messrs. Hatch and Enoch, and the negative will be supported by Messrs. Terry and Shorey. A general discussion will follow the debate, after which the house will cast its vote.

Policy Assailed

On December 2 the society heard a spirited debate on the present administration's policy in Latin-America. The affirmative endeavored to convince the house that the policy of the administration was intended for the benefit of the Latin-American countries. Lively opposition persuaded the house not to endorse the administration's policy.

Charles Laughlin and J. D. Quarles presented the affirmative with a readiness that displayed a thorough study of the question, while K. F. Frisby and E. A. Kiefer upheld the negative with equal ability.

The chairman announced plans for a close correlation between the activities of the Varsity debating squads and the Columbian Society, which will take form in the near future. This is thought to be easily possible because of the fact that the majority of the Varsity men are on the roster of the debating club.

Vote Appreciation

Among other motions a vote of appreciation was extended to Mrs. Shorey for her assistance in entertaining the Englishmen at the dance which the society gave in their honor on November 17.

Two new members were voted into the society, with the announcement that all the weekly meetings are open to students in any department of the University who are interested in public speaking and contemporary affairs.
